

TESTERS' DAY

Exhibition Invitation

Testers' Day 2025

International workshop for test engineers and suppliers in automated vehicle testing
September 10, 2025, Gothenburg, Sweden

Testers' Day is the place to be for test engineers, test experts and suppliers working with ADAS testing and automated driving. The conference has a distinctly focus on vehicle testing challenges of today. There is a lot of futuristic and research arenas but for test engineers this kind of venue is missing. That's why Testers' Day as a meeting place started in 2017. The conference is gathering around 100 participants every time and there has been high demand for the seats.

The small format of the conference and the mix of Key notes and practical workshops give the day a vivid content and lots of opportunities to the participants to state their own questions. It is also an unique possibility for the suppliers to meet potential as well as existing clients face to face.

September 10, will consist of Key notes, demonstration and workshops. You will be given a great opportunity to discuss with presenters, demo partners and other participants.

Bananpiren – in the Heart of Gothenburg!

Bananpiren is one of the most famous activity areas in the center of Gothenburg. Dating back to the shipbuilding era, the City has transformed the area into an activity area for larger business events, concerts and outdoor fairs.

With large open asphalted areas, combined with premises for indoor presentations, Bananpiren is an excellent place for Testers' Day. In addition, its geographical location, in the center of Gothenburg, provides proximity to transportation, hotels and many other facilities.
