Exhibition Invitation

Testers' Day 2025

International workshop for test engineers and suppliers in automated vehicle testing

October 2, 2025, Gothenburg, Sweden

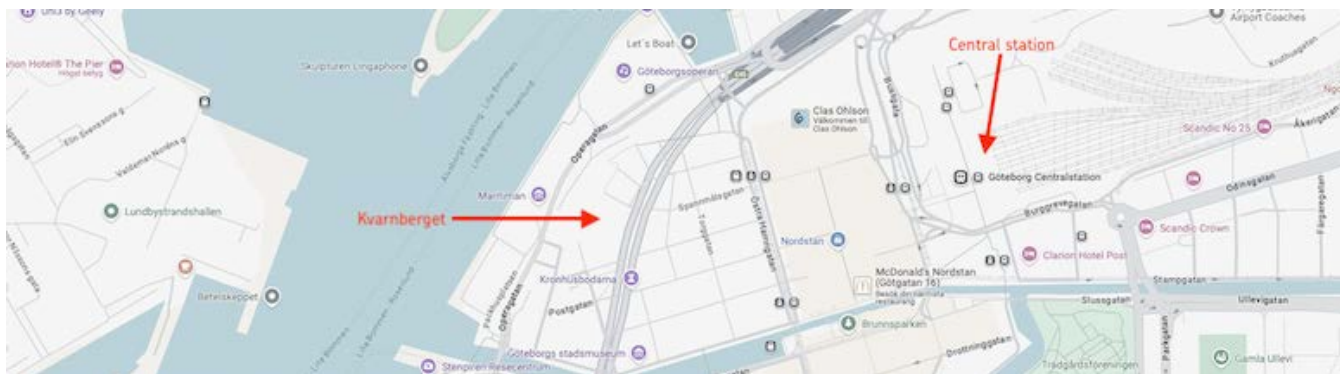

Testers' Day is the place to be for test engineers, test experts and suppliers working with ADAS testing and automated driving. The conference has a distinctly focus on vehicle testing challenges of today. There is a lot of futuristic and research arenas but for test engineers this kind of venue is missing. That's why Testers' Day as a meeting place started in 2017. The conference is gathering around 100 participants every time and there has been high demand for the seats.

The small format of the conference and the mix of Key notes and practical workshops give the day a vivid content and lots of opportunities to the participants to state their own questions. It is also an unique possibility for the suppliers to meet potential as well as existing clients face to face.

October 2, will consist of Key notes, demonstration and workshops. You will be given a great opportunity to discuss with presenters, demo partners and other participants.
